GERMAN CIVILIAN ARMY REPULSED IN ATTACK ON FRENCH FORCE IN SILESIA

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The foreign office Thursday issued a denial of the reports from Upper Silesia that General Lerond, head of the inter-allied commission there, has been recalled.

OPPELN.—By The Associated Press.—French soldiers forming the garrison of Beuthen, a city in southeastern Silesia near the old Polish frontier, have been attacked by forces organized by the German inhabitants of the town. Reports state the Germans numbered 3,000. The French used tanks in charging the Germans and are said to have gained the upper hand. There have been many German casualties, it is reported, but the French have not suffered losses.

The attack by the Germans on the French is said to have been well planned. Telephone wires between the French headquarters and the barracks were cut, sentries were driven back and the headquarters detachment was surrounded.

Situation Declared Grave

The situation at Beuthen is reported by neutral refugees reaching here to be grave. The German population of the city is declared to be desperate. Food supplies are running short and there has been much looting during recent nights.

Women have begun volunteering for service at the front. A number of women, wearing men's clothing, are driving wagons and automobiles, some of them carrying army revolvers in their belts. The Germans are sending every man possessing any sort of weapon to the Posnawitz front.

British at Stubendorf

Members of the Black Watch, constituting a part of the British force sent into Silesia, have reached Stubendorf, about six miles northwest of Beuthen.

The Germans informed the British that as soon as the allied advance German German protective organizations, which have been secretly organized in towns in the territory occupied by the Poles, would go into action and would attempt to prevent the destruction of property.

WANT CLOCKS SHOWN BACK TO OLD TIME

Insurrection Started Against Daylight Saving Schedule as Result of Meeting on Wednesday Night

PETITIONS ARE CIRCULATED IN BUSINESS DISTRICT TODAY

Many Jobbers, Manufacturers and Merchants are Signing the Papers

AN insurrection against daylight saving is under way in La Crosse, as a result of a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening attended by merchants, jobbers, and other business men who are opposed to the new time-schedule in relation to their businesses.

Following the meeting petitions were placed in circulation pledging the signers to operate on standard time beginning next Monday, June 6. Those circulating the petitions said at noon on Thursday that they were meeting with success, and predicted that the business of La Crosse would be on a standard time basis next week.

Depots to Change

Railroad freight depots it was said which went on the day light saving schedule on Wednesday, have agreed to go back to standard time next Monday. Much of the time of the meeting Wednesday evening was devoted to a discussion of the shipping problem raised by the time-change. Manufacturers and jobbers declared that the change, particularly at the freight depots, made it impossible to ship freight to their customers within twenty-four hours of their competitors in neighboring towns operating on standard time.

The petition which is being circulated reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, feel that we can best serve our customers and the city in general by operating our places of business on standard time, and in conformity to this, we agree to operate on standard time, same to be effective Monday, June 6th."

Petitions Circulated

Petitions are being circulated by E. W. Sikson, L. H. Martin, Harry Newburg, C. F. Storandt and E. L. Kopelberger.

The Stoddard Hotel dining room will be operated under the old schedule, standard time, it was announced at the hotel today. This action was taken because of the fact that the railroad is operated under standard time and because of the large number of summer automobile tourists passing through the city.

MILE-SQUARE AREA BURNED

ASSEMBLY REFUSES TO PASS DRY BILL OVER BLAINE VETO

No Attempt Made by Drys to Line up Forces Against the Governor

NEXT MOVE IN PROHIBITION FIGHT NOW UP TO BLAINE

New Enforcement Bill Now Being Drafted

MADISON, Wis.—The assembly voted Thursday 24 to 56 against passage of the Matheson prohibition enforcement bill over the veto of Governor Blaine. No serious attempt was made by the drys to line up their forces against the governor in his stand against the measure.

This move in the prohibition fight leaves the next step up to Governor Blaine when he asks to have a new enforcement bill, now being drawn, introduced in the legislature. There will be decided opposition to this attempt of the governor, Mark Catlin, opposition leader, intimated when he said that he would oppose any new dry legislation during the remainder of the session.

Assemblyman Alexander E. Matheson, author of the vetoed bill, in a speech to the lower house attacked the reasons set forward by the governor for killing the enforcement measure, but said that this was his prerogative and that he would not ask the assembly to over-ride his action.

Legislature Divided

"The measure has divided us into two camps," Mr. Matheson said, "one for strict, rigid, effective enforcement of the eighteenth constitutional amendment; another for loose liberal enforcement. It is each man's personal privilege to decide where he stands."

"My bill is dead. I will accept any new measure that has in it real value and real provision for law enforcement, if any improvement over the present law, but I will not support any bill that does not provide a real advance over the present."

Referring to the governor's heated attack on the Anti-Saloon league lobby, which he declared was "pernicious" and "dictatorial" and had "blackened" members into voting for the Matheson bill, Assemblyman Matheson asked whether the governor realized just what he said.

"If there was a dictator somebody must have been submissive, and from the statements somebody must not have been honest in his stand. If somebody has bludgeoned members, there must be someone who is so weak as to be bludgeoned."

Deny Lobbying

"I deny the imputation, deny it on behalf of the fifty-three members of this assembly who voted consistently for my bill."

It was declared to the lower house by Assemblyman Matheson that the reasons set forward by Governor Blaine for his veto were not real, pointing out that his statements showed evidence that he had been misled on existing laws.

"Some time his excellency is going to regret his advocacy of change in the law governing prescriptions so that a minor may get liquor from a druggist. He will regret his stand for leniency in a matter which means drunkenness among boys and girls."

"The section governing flavoring extracts which the governor says opens the way to drunkenness, is copied word for word from the present Mulberger law and the existing federal Volstead act, except for a very minor change in one word," Assemblyman Matheson said.

"He says that there is no penalty for drunkenness. This penalty does not belong in an enforcement statute, and was not placed there, but it does belong among the other statutes and is in existence, so the governor must have been incorrectly informed."

CITY UNDER CONTROL OF MILITARY FORCES AND NO FURTHER TROUBLE IS EXPECTED; THOUSANDS OF NEGROES MADE HOMELESS BY FIRES

TULSA, Okla.—Adjutant General Barrett, commanding the state militia forces in Tulsa county under the martial law proclamation, announced Thursday that 236 of the 400 guardsmen here will be sent home this afternoon.

TULSA, Okla.—With daybreak Thursday, this city, under the control of strict martial law, began a systematic stock-taking of the death and ruin which a few hours of race rioting spread in its path Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

The military forces, headed by Adjutant General Barrett, started a check of the list of dead which unofficial estimates placed at somewhere near 100, most of them negroes. Belief was expressed that the disturbance would not recur.

Eighty white men were killed so far as a check of the morgues disclosed. Some of the thirty-five injured in hospitals are expected to die.

When the military forces combed over the burned negro quarters a number of negro bodies were expected to be found. Thursday morning the bodies of fifteen negroes lay in morgues.

Belief was expressed by officials that the bodies of all the negroes killed would not be found, as it was thought a number were burned in their homes. Then, too, reports were received at military headquarters that a number of negro bodies had been thrown into the river and others buried outside the city.

Physicians treating wounded negroes at hospitals said a score could not recover.

Military patrols and guards at every principal street corner kept a firm grip on the situation. Business was virtually suspended Wednesday night under the general order issued by Adjutant General Barrett, but stores were permitted to open Thursday morning.

Citizens were not permitted on the streets during the night and anyone who ventured on the streets without a military pass was taken to the guardhouse.

A sweeping investigation of the causes leading to the rioting is expected. Governor Robertson planned to take an active hand. A military commission has the task of fixing responsibility for the outbreak.

Thousands Homeless

Outside the horror of killing and wounding in the series of race battles, the situation of thousands of homeless negroes presented the most serious condition and one which will give authorities the biggest problem for solution.

All that is left of the hundreds of negro homes bunched in the section fired by white rioters is a blackened waste, a curling column of smoke here and there, and a few shattered walls.

An idea of the extent of destruction in the burned area is gained from the statement that it is more than a mile square. Virtually no buildings escaped. Many were cheap frame dwellings, but more than a score of them were substantial brick business houses. A negro church recently completed at a cost of $85,000 was consumed by the flames.

Property Loss High

The property loss, according to real estate men, will total well over $1,500,000.

Officials realizing that some hasty measures must be taken for the relief of the thousands of homeless negroes, decided to devise a scheme for providing them with shelter. Five thousand negroes were camped in the fair grounds under protection of the militia and thousands who fled from city came trickling back.

Since martial law was declared late Wednesday there has been no indication of further conflicts and observers expressed belief that the flare of race feeling had died out.

Officials Probe Cause

Officials hope to clear up by the investigation just what led to the first shooting Tuesday night. A newspaperman who was at the court-house at the time said about twenty-five white men gathered on the south side of the building. Three of the leaders entered the court house, he said, on the top floor of which Dick Rowland, a negro was being held for an alleged attack upon a white girl in an elevator of a downtown building. Most of the white men were not armed, according to the newspaperman.

Sheriff McCulloch met the three men who entered the building and warned them away, with the declaration that the negro would be protected at any cost. The prisoner was in a cell at the top of a winding stairway which could have easily been held by a few men against a mob.

Meantime about thirty negroes, some armed, gathered in little groups west of the court-house. Barney Cleaver, a negro, a veteran peace officer, went among the gathering and urged them to disperse. At this time there apparently was no concerted action among the negroes.

Most of them started to leave, but were called back by a few leaders. Twice again the majority of the negro mob moved away, but each time they returned at the appeal of the few who were determined to stay.

By this time the white crowd had been reinforced by curious persons. Then some broke, running eastward, shouting: "Let's get guns."

The negroes moved away and took a stand about three blocks away.

The white crowd remained near the court-house, however, receiving reinforcements.

Then armed negroes appeared in motor cars, racing past the court-house.

PASS BILL TO GIVE U.S. THE BIGGEST NAVY

Naval Appropriation Bill Goes Through Providing for Continuance of Building Program

BILL CARRIES APPROPRIATION OF NEARLY HALF A BILLION

Borah Disarmament Amendment Included in the Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Overriding the "Hull navy" faction after weeks of stormy debate, the senate Wednesday passed the naval appropriation bill enabling the administration to go forward with the program designed to make the United States the foremost sea power in the world. The vote was 54 to 17.

The net result of nearly a month's bombardment by the opposition was a reduction of $2,500,000 from the naval committee. The total of the bill as it now stands is $491,000,000, an increase of approximately $98,000,000 over the house bill and $81,000,000 more than the total of last year's navy bill.

The measure now goes to conference for the smoothing out of the $98,000,000 difference between the senate and house. Representative Kelley of Michigan, who has charge of the bill in the house, declared Wednesday that the house would never agree to the senate increase and would fight them to the last ditch unless the administration directly intervened in the controversy. A long deadlock is in prospect.

Borah Amendment Wins

The senate bill has a twofold object. In the first place, it is intended to serve notice upon the world that the United States is ready to go the limit in building fighting ships if any other nation dares to enter into competition. In the second place, through the unanimous adoption of the Borah amendment, it opens the way for other nations to join with the United States in curtailing naval construction and reducing naval expenditures.

Five republicans and twelve democrats voted against the bill. The republicans were Capper, Lenroot, La Follette, Norris, and Norbeck. The democrats were Dial, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hefflin, Hitchcock, King, Pomerene, Sheppard, Stanley, Tamm, and Watson of Georgia.

Among those who voted for the bill was Senator Borah of Idaho, who led the fight for reduction of the appropriations. Senator Borah made a brief speech explaining that he would support the bill because he had high hopes of results from his amendment requesting the president to enter into negotiations with Great Britain and Japan for a naval building holiday.

Vote Down King's Offers

A motion by Senator King, Utah Democrat, to recommit the bill to the naval committee with instructions to cut off $100,000,000 was defeated, 43 to 25. Senator King offered a series of amendments to suspend further construction until the United States makes certain that it is building a thoroughly up-to-date navy.

He called attention to the fact that Great Britain, "under the spur of our threats to outbuild her," is now proposing to build four new battle cruisers of the super-Hood type, of 55,000,000 tons displacement, and carrying eighteen of twenty inch guns.

He declared that if the British carried out their program, every American vessel in the present program would be outclassed and rendered obsolete. All of his amendments, however, were voted down without a roll call.

Provides For 120,000 Men

The bill carries $105,000,000 for construction of ships, including an item of $15,000,000 for the beginning of work on two airplane carriers at a cost of $52,000,000; $18,000,000 for aviation, and funds for 120,000 men.

Another important feature is the allowance of several millions of dollars for strengthening the Pacific coast defenses.

After much cloakroom jockeying, the senate rescinded its previous vote suspending further work on the Charleston navy yard, where approximately $20,000,000 is to be spent.

DISCONTINUANCE OF AIR MAIL ROUTE TO LA CROSSE PROBABLE

Service in Middle West May be Halted Until Inquiry is Completed

PLANE CRASH HERE CAUSE OF EXTENDED INVESTIGATION

Official Announcement Gives "Lack of Funds" as Reason

AIR mail routes from Chicago to the Twin cities by way of La Crosse and from Chicago to St. Louis probably will be discontinued about July 1, it was announced today at the post-office department, Washington.

News of the probable discontinuance of the service reached St. Louis Wednesday, it is understood, but no one at the field would discuss the situation today, nor would anyone there admit that any official information had been received.

Order Follows Suspension

The order follows the suspension of Eugene W. Majors, superintendent for the middle west service. Four officials under and one mechanic, Chicago post officials think, it is step toward halting the entire service there until the air mail investigation is completed.

Testimony before the investigating committee of inspectors appointed by Postmaster General Hayes and sitting in Chicago included charges of drunkenness on duty and incompetency against officials of the service.

The present investigation now on in Chicago is the result of the accident to the Junker plane here in La Crosse several months ago in which three pilots lost their lives.

The official announcement gives "a lack of funds" for the discontinuance.

Send Protest to Hays

Pilots and merchants at Checkerboard field Wednesday sent a letter to Postmaster General Hayes protesting the suspension of Superintendent Majors and the others. They denied the charges against the officials. Carlton A. Parker of Philadelphia was made temporary commandant at the field.

LISTMAN MILL IS CLOSED UP BECAUSE OF LABOR TROUBLE

Company Reopens Mill at Sleepy Eye to Handle Business of La Crosse Plant

MUST REDUCE PRODUCTION COST HERE IT IS CLAIMED

Union Men Maintain They Were Locked Out by Company

As a result of labor troubles the Listman flour mill in this city is closed for an indefinite period, according to announcement made by the management of the company today. All the business of the local mill will be transferred to the company's mill at Sleepy Eye, Minn., and the La Crosse plant will not be reopened, it was said. The plant will be maintained here at a cost which will permit the company to meet the prices of its competitors.

H. L. Agers, manager of the Listman mill, gave out the following statement following a conference here with E. B. Hoffman of Kansas City, general manager of the corporation:

"It was decided to close the mill here and reopen the mill in Sleepy Eye, Minn. We will continue to operate the Sleepy Eye mill until the company can produce a barrel of flour here at a production cost in line with competition. The heads of department in the La Crosse mill have been transferred to Sleepy Eye."

Statement of Men

A statement issued by the union men was as follows:

"The lockout at the Listman Mills is the same as it was three weeks ago. The management of the mill, which claimed three weeks ago that they had no orders, are now going to the mill and starting up that mill which has been down for some time. This shows that it was not the lack of orders for which they closed their doors to the La Crosse workmen."

The statement was signed "Lockout Committee." Of this committee William Schorch is chairman and Jeffrey Hanson secretary. The other members are R. O. Schorch, Walter Crook and Robert Krause.

BELFAST, Ireland.—By The Associated Press.—The News Letter Thursday says it has learned "on very good authority" that in all probability King George will visit Belfast for the purpose of opening the Ulster parliament on June 21.

The parliament will meet next Tuesday for the election of a speaker and the swearing in of the members.

Bill Permits President To Defend Aliens

WASHINGTON.—A bill authorizing the president to maintain through federal courts or otherwise, and irrespective of any state law, twenty rights of aliens in the United States was introduced Thursday by Senator Kellogg, republican, Minnesota, and referred to the foreign relations committee. It would specifically permit use of the army or navy as well as United States marshals to enforce court rulings.

Where such alien rights were contravened in the judgment of the president he would be authorized to instruct the attorney general to assume the defense of civil or criminal suits against aliens and transfer the issue to federal courts. While no specific application was described in the bill, it was said it might be available in cases arising out of state statutes such as the California anti-alien land law.

FIFTY MILLION OF LOANS TO FARMERS ORDERED BY SENATE

Farm Relief Measure Passes; House Passes Packer Control Bill

WASHINGTON.—Another farmer's relief measure, the bill of Senator Curtis republican, Kansas to loan up to $50,000,000 to federal farm loan banks to distribute among farmers at not more than 5 1/2 percent interest, was passed Thursday by the senate with assurances of early house approval.

The Haugen packer control bill was passed by the house without a record vote and sent to the senate.

HARDING ATTENDS GRADUATION OF NAVAL ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—President Harding motored to Annapolis Thursday morning to participate in the day graduation exercises at the naval academy. After stopping for a short time at the residence of Admiral Scates, superintendent of the academy, the president, who is accompanied by Mrs. Harding, went to the armory, where the ceremonies were held.

COLORADO TORNADO KILLS HUNDREDS OF HEAD OF CATTLE

AKRON, Col.—A tornado in Northern Washington county late Wednesday demolished farm buildings, killed hundreds of horses and cattle, while hail and wind destroyed thousands of dollars worth of crops. The Extra Hazard

WORKING for Uncle Sam in any of the federal aviation services is an extra-hazardous occupation. Besides the ordinary hazards of flying there is an additional risk, apparently, that cannot be computed but is very evidently in existence judging from the number of serious accidents that are occurring with monotonous and pitiful regularity in the army, navy and air-mail services. What this risk is may be guessed at from a little detail of the recent crash of the army ambulance plane near Washington, in which every member of the crew of seven was killed. There was a French flying man in that plane when it left Washington, but he was not in it when it fell. The reason was that after the trip out he refused to go up in the ship again. It was underpowered for its size and there were other structural defects that his experience recognized as dangerous. So he went back to Washington by rail, to meet word of the disaster, in which his seven flight companions had met death. They were under orders and had no choice, even if they had been as fully conscious as the Frenchman of the danger.

The extra hazard of being an American government flyer centers about the fact that aviation is starving to death in this country. Great strides in safety, capacity, speed and other development have been made abroad but in the United States, whose inventors gave mechanical flight to the world, development is stunted and crippled for lack of nourishment. According to contemporary French standards, the ambulance plane was obviously dangerous and unsafe, but apparently it was the best the United States had. That can only mean that American flight engineering has dropped behind in the world's progress toward safe flight. We have not yet come as far from the old "stick-and-string" stage as foreign nations. Our airman must still accept the hazards which thought and experiment have eliminated for the foreign flyers.

We refuse to believe that this is because French or Italian or German flight engineers are any more intelligent or fertile of invention than Americans. This has never been true of any branch of mechanics, and there is no reason it should be true of a special branch which was born of American genius. The much more probable explanation is found in the obvious neglect of aviation here. American engineers cannot afford to devote time to solving the difficult problems of pioneer development in aerial equipment. Abroad the government helps with generous appropriations for commercial as well as postal, military and naval air service. In this country all four are barely able to maintain life, much less to grow.

The Allied Debt

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY MELLON has announced that the "funding" of the $10,000,000,000 debt of European nations to America will take place in the near future, certainly within the year. This means that we will like their long-time securities in exchange for the receipts-for-money-received now held by us. The long-time securities will have definite dates of maturity and definite dates for the payment of interest.

The Mellon statement is important as indicating that the Harding administration has no intention of embracing the idea that out of the goodness of our hearts we should wipe this $10,000,000,000 off the slate as an additional contribution to the war. There was a fairly good case, from the foreign standpoint, made out for this cancellation of the allies' debts to us, contingent upon their cancellation of similar debts among themselves. The idea was that removal of the great burden of interest payments owed between nations would destroy a great obstacle—and doubtless that is true. The war debt is a very heavy charge on all business in the world.

But the allies' bonds held by the United States were taken as security for the loan of great sums of money raised by the sale of Liberty bonds to our own people. Were we unable to look to these foreign bonds for interest and payments of principal our net national debt would be much larger than now, and the tax requirements proportionately heavier. Americans would have to pay for cannon and shells used by British, French and Italian governments in the war. There is no logical reason in that suggestion, beyond the mere fact that the United States is perhaps better able to pay than some other countries.

If the European nations would spend less on huge peace armies and navies, land-grabbing military expeditions, etc., it is quite possible they might find the resultant saving would more than pay the interest and amortization of their American-held bonds. So long as they will not do this voluntarily, we have no reason to bother about their burden of debt. Indeed, in that it enforces on them the necessity for finding money for interest payments to America the debt has the positive advantage of preventing additional excessive expenditures for dangerous weapons. If we could trade their bonds for actual and honest disarmament we might find it worth while to cancel them, but cancellation merely because they find it hard to pay ranks more as an absurdity than as a serious business proposal.

The ten billion of bonds we hold is a perfectly legitimate claim for money loaned in good faith from the savings of the American people, and it is interesting to know that Mr. Mellon is arranging to put the whole transaction on a reasonable business basis.

Still An Armed Camp

THE war that was to end all wars and the peace that was to bring new order in the world have left Europe what it has been through the centuries—an armed camp with nearly 5,000,000 youths taken out of industry.

In a recent discussion of the army bill in the French senate, it was stated that the number of men under the colors was 830,000, divided as follows: Frenchmen, 572,000; natives of North Africa, 152,000; foreigners and natives of other colonies, 106,000.

The number of troops Germany has, is a matter of keen dispute. Under the Versailles treaty, she is not to have more than 100,000 men and officers in her army. But there still are various other organizations which the Germans say are merely police and security forces to preserve the republic from bolshevism and monarchists, but which the French say are mere camouflage for armies-in-being.

The British army for the current year is 341,000 as against 525,000 last year. Omitting about 55,000 temporarily on the lists, the real strength of the army this year will be about 285,000. Of these, 201,127 are British and 83,200 are colonial and native Indian troops.

Hungary is limited to a small army by the peace treaty. But her strength is estimated from 100,000 to 250,000 troops, with France benevolently looking on. Bulgaria, by the treaty of Neuilly, is to have only 20,000 troops. She has, in reality, 33,000. Greece, engaged in active warfare with the Kemalists, has 250,000 under arms. Poland has about 600,000 under arms and bolshevik Russia is thought to have the same in her soviet armies.

The other figures, as official as they can be secured, are: Austria, 30,000; Belgium, 105,400; Czechoslovakia, 147,300; Denmark, 15,400; Finland, 35,000; Italy, 300,000; Holland, 21,400; Norway, 15,400; Portugal, 30,000; Rumania, 160,000; Spain, 190,715; Sweden, 56,200; Switzerland, 16,000; Yugoslavia, 200,000; Estonia, 30,000; Turkey, 50,000.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The executive board of the Normal Athletic association has decided to award monograms or letters to those taking part in the athletic activities of the school. The same monogram will be presented for basketball, track work, baseball or football.

Looking like a great flat box with one end peculiarly sharpened and the bottom notched, the extreme speed hydroplane "La Crosse" stands nearly completed in the Machine and Boat Works at Winona. It is to represent this city at the annual regatta of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association at Dubuque July 4-5-6.

Beginning this week court house officers will close at noon on Saturdays for the summer months.

Professor E. D. Long of the La Crosse Normal school delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the graduates of the Wilton high school Tuesday evening.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Bishop James Schwebach of this city assisted in the golden jubilee celebration of the ordination as priest of the Rev. Father De Goey which was held in Marshfield this afternoon. Bishop Schwebach pontificated and was assisted by a number of priests from different parts of the state. The celebration was the first of its kind ever held in this diocese. Father De Goey was born in Holland in 1824.

The new golf clubhouse near Lake Park will be formally opened tomorrow. In the morning a preliminary contest will be held on the links and at noon a lunch will be served. Street cars will run to Lake Park where a bus may be had to the grounds.

Since the common council has begun the movement to extend the water mains towards the fair grounds, the people residing in that vicinity are hoping that they may be given a fire station as well. The facilities for fire protection in that part of the city are very poor and as soon as the mains are extended the residents will petition that a fire station be erected east of the Green Bay tracks.

A police patrol system will be started in this city next month. The plan of having officers report every hour from all parts of the city is a waste of time and a system of telephone connection with headquarters will be much more economical and efficient.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Mr. F. C. Bliss, of the Janesville Gazette, was in the city Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. Bliss. They were guests of Rev. Henry Faville and family. Mr. Bliss was here in the interest of the paper box factory which is a part of the Gazette plant.

Mrs. Frank Shadbolt and son, who have been in Colorado the last three months, have returned to this city.

The barbers of the city could not agree on closing their shops on Decoration Day so all kept their places open.

Mrs. William Apsey left La Crosse this morning for a visit with friends in London, England. She will sail on the steamer City of Chicago.

At last night's common council meeting Alderman Strouse read a report recommending that a tower be erected for a fire alarm bell. As the matter now stands, the sound does not vibrate to any considerable distance.

IN THE REBOUND

By MARTHA McCULLOCH WILLIAMS

Action and reaction being always equal, how was Benning to disprove the axiom? He sure it was no question of his asking—he did not, indeed realize its existence. He was, you see, self-sufficient with malice aforethought, hence took no account of the winds of chance.

Yet they had blown him through painfully meager college years to a scholarly success that he felt assured success still greater. Thus he had no time for playing, still less for the petty game of love-making—there expressed concretely in expensive things like flowers, candy, auto and theatre parties, not to mention giddy rumormongering of the latest mode. Girls meant all those so imperatively Benning had stolidly passed them up. Notwithstanding he did not lack consciousness—but it was so braided with thrift and ambition that he had held it rigidly in check. Yet in the backmost corner of his mind, where he visioned a future of eminence, he stored an appraisal of Persis Moon, not strictly of the college set, her father being only an adjunct professor in the lethargic law branch of the university. Persis looked flurried personified—and lived up to it, yet owned a delicate small prettiness, and a gently elated speech, that wasted no breath in undue emphasis.

If he did not tell her so outright he knew she understood as is the privilege of such knowing natures. So when he plucked into the world of affairs, not by the war flood, he felt that only an "if" stood between them. Several "ifs," in fact—if she lacked patience, if another man desired her, if he himself found out somebody more to his advantage—even the dazzling if of sudden success that would send him beyond her potentialities—all these he pondered, but ended by leaving his mind clouded with mists, only now and then roseate.

Luck lay in wait for him. Home from the wars, with never a scratch, she opened a way for him, one gilded, edged but still paved. It led to millions, some few years ahead. Meantime he had to get acclimated in the atmosphere of wealth—learn to dress with such quiet elegance as all but amounted to camouflage, to forget the name of money except when he seemed to himself to squander it—and to do the squandering with the greatest good will. He could not quickly the disparaging implication of "rightward." There, Poppy was a rock of refuge. Poppy being the synonym of a superbly flurried, unreasonably rich and unreasonably sensible. Through the medium of his own hearty sincerity he saw Benning as a wonder. Therefore he was glad to sponsor him socially, even to make him known to Melitta Yane, the queen of his own affections.

Melitta was after a sort compounded of saint and siren. Vividly beautiful, alive to her finger tips, dancing like a mermaid and singing like a thrush in June, she had undisputed right to be first in the hearts of her countrymen. Benning had no intention of disputing the right—when it came Poppy Sanders, there was another story. Poppy had already said that he deserved—besides, he could not possibly need Melitta as Benning himself did. Hence, therefore, and because Benning set himself solemnly to the supplanting of his friend. At first candidly, earnestly, but soon by open and eager rivalry. He haunted her waking hours, wrote to her daily or afternoons, sent fine small, well-chosen gifts upon any occasion, or none, and by clever maneuvering made himself her social complement upon the most important affairs.

Fate appeared to have taken the case for him. Somehow there was a growing distance between Melitta and Poppy. Not an open break, but a withdrawing from camaraderie. Poppy had spools of being actually intimate, but Melitta, away from him, was gay, more than ever. Benning flattered himself that it was because of him—a woman's heart like the moon, thought he, had always a man in it. No other man should have chance to set his image in Melitta's breast. Since two bodies cannot occupy the same space, Benning was relying a lot upon pre-emptive. The sense of security he bred in him went to his head—no not only spent with both hands almost automatically but got a mad joy from the spending. Melitta loved luxury—he wanted to prove to her that with his potentialities capitalized, as was easily possible, as his wife she would need only to wish for a thing and have it.

He flattered her ambitions, therefore he played upon her skillfully, but without ceasing to flatter, all the celebrities with whom he had touch, social or official. Also he let her know indirectly that he had not yet reached apogee. If he chose he could slide into petticoat-capitalistic life, where his brains, plus influence, would soon exalt him greatly. He visioned Melitta an ambassador, presented and presenting at courts, a contented lady, even dainty, first lady of the land. She would grace any station—he told her so more than once. She made faces at him, calling him flatterer, but he knew she was not offended. So he ventured upon open love-making, with a warning and earnestness that amazed himself. She listened, sometimes laughing, sometimes yawning, giving him neither yes nor nay, but still in a way that made her more than ever mad-denting.

This could not last forever. Two careers were open to him—either he should choose denouement on Melitta. One, semi-scientific, spelled competence ultimate wealth, great consequence among men of his sort, but nothing spectacular, no beating of drums nor sounding of tomtoms. This was a greatly less inclination—the truly loved delving into deep things. But over again there lay a breathless opportunity to gain, by somewhat of risk, millions, great power, and the whole world's applause. It

TROUBLES OF AN AMATEUR EDITOR

When Ruddyard Kipling attended the United Service College in England, during his early years, some of his classmates started up a school paper. William H. Kipling, in his book of biographies, quotes Kipling as having said: "It was a real petting paper of eight pages; and at first the printer was more thoroughly ignorant of typesetting and the editor was more completely ignorant of proof-reading, than any printer and any editor that ever was. It was printed off by a gas-engine and even the engine damped its fire; for one day it went through the floor of the shop, and crashed—still working furiously—into the cellar."

Amateur editors amongst us will take note of this experience and discover they are not the only ones who are or have had hard times with a printing press.

PINT OF MILK TAKES PLACE OF BIG JUICY PICKLE FOR "RECESS"

Remember those old days when a big, fat, juicy pickle was the one thing that you liked to take to school for "recess eat?" And can you recall the much-coveted lomon with a peppermint stick?

Well, things have changed completely, and these days, instead of candy and lomon, pickles and pretzels, the students of the Allison School, Harrisburg, Pa., take a pint bottle of milk to school for recess.

They have decided that milk is a lot better than the other "stuff," and everybody seems to like the new order of things.

FROM BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYER

Batting Pointers
Written especially for the Boys and Girls Newspaper by "Rab" Ruth, Home-Run King

Before going up to bat try swinging two or three clubs for a few minutes. This makes the one bat seem lighter. To make a long hit, throw your whole body into your swing. Do not use only your arms—put your whole weight behind the hit. Stand braced to start for first base the minute the ball meets the bat. To waste a half minute of time may be fatal.

Practiced Eye Brings Results
Some batters trip the handle of their bats so they can get a better grip. I leave my bat bare. I use a bat weighing 54 ounces. It has a large knob on the small end, to keep it from slipping out of the hands. "It takes a practiced eye to judge a ball correctly every time. But if you keep at it and have 'baseball instinct' in you, you will get results. Weight and strength has a great deal to do with knocking the ball for long hits."

Bat In Natural Position
Between seasons I keep fit by hunting, fishing, hiking and keeping out in the open and getting as much exercise as I can. During the baseball season as I am playing the game and in the professional platoon keeps in trim by just playing the game and, of course, obeying the routine rules about getting enough rest, etc.

Assume the most natural position when you bat. I stand with my feet about a foot apart. I keep my eyes on the ball, judge the best I can where it is going to cross the plate, and then swing at it.

Well, Well
It was the end of the second act. The heroine was staring. "Brend!" she cried as she sank to the floor. "Give me bread!" And just then the curtain came down with a roll.

Said the teacher, "English is much like a game of football. There's the team work we must have, and the coach which is our book. Now, Johnny, doesn't it remind you of a game?" "Tessum, all but the passin'."

About Earth's Shape

BY DR. WILLIAM E. HARTON

It is related, and therefore may be true, that a small boy, who had made a brilliant success of recitations in geography, came to his written examination, and confronted the question, "What is the shape of the earth?" He could not recall the answer that was in the book, but he remembered more or less indistinctly some things which he had heard, and so wrote his answer:

"The earth is a flat shape." That answer should have given him a passing mark on his entire paper. The earth is a flat shape. Those people who regard it as flat are troubled by its inequalities of surface, and those who regard it as round are compelled to admit that it is flattened at the poles, and that it wobbles at an absurd angle as it makes its daily revolution upon its own unsteady axis.

would mean Paradise—plus Melitta. Without her refusal to let himself think, instead, he went to her, rather white-faced and shaken, but feeling himself so full of compelling he did not doubt the event.

She met him on the piazza, her eyes stony, her lips falling instantly into a soft, merry smile. "I was wishing you'd come—right away," she said. "Did that bring you? Or is it just a happen so?"

"Providence brought me, I think—if you wished for me." Benning began in a throaty voice he hardly recognized as his own. Melitta started a little and drew a pace away, saying with her head high: "Maybe so! But you would have known before morning any way. Poppy is looking for you to ask if you'll help us—we have to be married early tomorrow—and there is so much needs doing."

"Tomorrow," Benning echoed, laughing hollowly. "When I thought you were done with him."

"You have a trick of making mistakes," she answered gravely. "As for instance, thinking you could supplant your most useful friend. As soon as we realized it, Poppy said, 'Let him go as far as he likes.'"

Benning waited for no further words as he rushed away. Poppy met him, held out his hand and smiled rather grimly, saying: "From your look, if I want to say good-by, now is the time."

Six weeks later Mr. and Mrs. Poppy Sanders got wedding cards from Benning and his bride—the sometime Persis Moon. They laughed softly over them—Poppy had heard something of Persis in reservation—and said one to another: "He got caught in the rebound."

Why, Sure
"My wife has a terrible memory."
"What do you mean?"
"Oh, she can't remember anything a day after it happens."
"Ah, a sad case—why don't you give her a flivver?"
"What for?"
"Why, to jog her memory."

THE BRUHA-HUSSA NUPTIALS HELD AT SUMMER HOME

Surrounded by the beauties of nature, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Hussa at Sunset Point was the scene on Wednesday afternoon of a very pretty ceremony which united in marriage their daughter, Leona, and Mr. Arthur J. Bruha. At four o'clock to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, little Wilma Prall, cousin of the bride, appeared and led the bride down the path of the bride. She was followed by the bride's maid, who preceded the bride down the stairs. The bride came on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage and they joined the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Joseph Bruha, brother of the bridegroom, at the improvised altar. Rev. Carlos C. Rawlison, pastor of the First Congregational church, read the solemn marriage lines.

A wedding dinner followed, the tables being laid on the great porch on three sides of the cottage. The tables were in bridal array and were daintily dressed with wild flowers. Only relatives and intimate friends were present at the ceremony. A fireplace was transformed into a beautiful bower of wild roses, which formed the setting for the ceremony. In the evening guests were entertained. The bride wore a handsome gown of white embroidered organdie and carried a shower of Columbia roses and white playdolls. The bridesmaid's dress was orchid colored organdie and she carried a shower of Russell roses. The little flower maid also wore organdie in a yellow shade.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruha will make their home in the city. The out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mrs. Oscar Hussa, Hugo Hussa, Ernest Hussa, Otto Hussa and Miss Annelia Hussa of Racine and Miss Mildred Hussa of Chicago.

AT ST. JAMES church at eight o'clock Wednesday morning Rev. Amos Murphy officiated in marriage Norma May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jett, 629 Rose street, and Mr. J. G. Downey. The bride was attended by Miss Romaine Downey, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Ralph Rudolph was the best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents where the color scheme was carried out in pink and white, the cake being entirely in pink. The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin and a tulle veil and carried a shower of pink roses.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Carrie Smith, grandmother of the bride, of Chicago, Mrs. Pearl Gaylord of Sault, Mr. and Mrs. Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Manke of Genoa, Misses Gertrude and Romaine Downey of Minneapolis and Raymond Meadum of Monroe.

Dr. and Mrs. Downey left on a honeymoon trip to Minneapolis and points in the west.

BEG YOUR PARDON

D. W. MacWille, reported in the Tribune and Leader-Press as having told the industrial commission at the minimum wage hearing on Wednesday that productive efficiency would be obtained more quickly without the minimum wage, objects to the summary of his testimony which might lead to the belief that he urged the abolition of the minimum wage.

Mr. MacWille's statement, he said, suggested only the abolition of the minimum wage as applied to the "probationary period" of six months, in which four cents an hour less than the full wage is now required. Mr. MacWille's contention was that, with this wage assured, young women were much slower in becoming productive workers than if their pay was based on their progress and development in the job.

"Most of the 'probation period,' said Mr. MacWille, 'is spent in teaching the girl how to work. If she is not producing in proportion to the minimum wage at the end of the six months the industry has to discharge her. If the law of supply and demand regulated her pay during the probationary period she would apply herself and be able to produce in her job by the time the probation was over. That would make for steadier employment.'

Willing to Support Her
Two young women boarded a crowded street car and were obliged to stand. One of them, to steady herself, took hold of what she supposed was her friend's hand. They had stood thus for some time when, on looking down, she discovered that she was holding a man's hand. Greatly embarrassed, she exclaimed: "Oh! I've got the wrong hand!"

Whereupon the man, with a smile, stretched forth his other hand, saying: "Here is the other one, madam!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

On to Him
A number of stars on the cuff of a soldier aroused the fair visitor's curiosity.

"He's the battalion astronomer," explained her escort gravely. "Most useful man. Guides us home by the stars when we've lost our way on night maneuvers."

"How interesting," said the maiden. Then, noting his bandman's badge, the representation of an ancient stringed instrument, she exclaimed, slyly: "I suppose that thing on your arm means that you're the regimental lyre!"

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Jack Dempsey Thursday began to show indications of cracking under the spell of his enforced four days of idleness. The heavyweight champion is becoming more fretful because of the inactivity at his camp, and is eager to resume his conditioning grind on Saturday which will be continued without further interruption until he finishes training for the defense of his title against Georges Carpentier at Jersey City, July 2.

Although Jack Kearns, his manager, placed his training quarters under lock and key before he departed for New York, Dempsey could not resist the temptation to go on the road Wednesday. He left camp secretly returning forty minutes later dripping wet with perspiration. He covered between five and six miles.

KEEP CITY CLEAN IS WORD OF LOCAL HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Campaign Against Practice of Throwing Rubbish Along
Railroad Rights of Way

NO EXCUSE FOR THIS ACTION
WITH CITY FURNISHING TEAMS

Co-operation of Citizens
Asked in this Movement

The city health department is endeavoring to conduct a campaign against the practice of dumping old rubbish and tin cans along railroad rights of way within the city limits. It was announced Thursday that because of the persistence of these people in scattering rubbish in this manner, the department found it necessary several years ago to serve notice on two of the largest railroad operating here to clean up their rights of way at a considerable expense. The clean-up was accomplished by all property owners in the vicinity of the tracks.

Health Officer A. M. Murphy, of the city health department said there was no excuse for the practice when all rubbish is hauled away by the city. At the last meeting of the board of health, a resolution was passed asking the board of public works to clean up the rubbish. The chief of police was requested to have police officers report violations of this ordinance.

Some of the places mentioned in the complaints of residents included the territory in the rear of the Gund Brewing company, railroad tracks, near Front and Jackson, Tyler and Adams and Head street, near Charles street and other outlying streets.

Residents of the city are generally requested to cooperate in keeping the city free of unsightly debris.

GREEN BAY MILLS TO SUE CITY FOR DAMAGE IN STRIKE

Claim Officials Failed to Heed
Requests for Protection of Property

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Suit to recover $300,000 damages alleged to have been sustained in injury to property and business of the Northern Paper Mills, against the city of Green Bay, will be filed shortly according to an announcement of the mill's attorneys Thursday.

The mill attorneys said that the city had been warned several times to protect the company's property and their employees. The police have been unable to furnish the Northern mills with adequate protection thereby making the city liable for riot and civil commotion, the attorneys declare. Further action will be instituted if the city does not furnish more protection it is said.

The suit is the outgrowth of the strike at the Northern Paper mill, which was closed Thursday by orders of Sheriff Nick Ryan after the strikers had refused to let strike-breakers through their picket lines. The situation became unmanageable and the mill was closed by the sheriff.

STELLINGWARE WINS HIS SUIT TO OUST WESTON FROM HOUSE

P. Stellingware, owner of the house at 115 North Tenth street, occupied by Dr. P. R. Weston, won his suit in municipal court before Judge Hildebrand in circuit court. As a result the doctor must move forthwith or if he doesn't move at once he must pay triple the $40 rent he is now paying, or $120 a month until he does move. C. L. Radwin represented Stellingware's claim while Arthur Holmes defended Dr. Weston.

The case was first heard before Justice G. W. Hunt. Dr. Weston produced on the theory that he was a tenant from month to month. Judge Hunt held that the doctor had a lease for a year and that the year was up May 7, 1921. After May 7 another action was brought before Judge Hunt and he ruled that Dr. Weston would have to move. The doctor appealed to the circuit court. Testimony introduced in circuit court showed that Dr. Weston was a tenant by the year, ending May 7, 1921. The court ruled that the doctor would have to move.

FRENCH ISLAND PIG ROW BREAKS OUT ANEW; COW IS ADDED TO LIST NOW

CHAPTER empty-nap, of the French Island pig and cow cases is about to be unfurled in Justice Hunt's court. Here's the way the latest episode in the rural serial runs:

Strates Kasambalis and Soter Calinas operate a farm on French Island. Adjoining their place is that of Martin Chapko. Chapko sold a sow and a Jersey cow to Kasambalis and Calinas. Payment was to be made later, it is said.

Several days ago a band of gypsies passed over French Island. They stopped at the Kasambalis-Calinas place, saw the cow and fancied her. A dicker was started whereby the gypsies were to trade a horse for the cow.

About that time Chapko heard of the trade and became wrought. He didn't like the idea of Kasambalis and Calinas trading his cow, which had not been paid for, according to Chapko, for any gypsy boss. Whereupon Chapko drove over to his neighbors' farm, bundled the sow in a wagon, hitched the cow to the rig and drove home.

The next move by Chapko was a visit to Justice Hunt and Constable Louis Omerberg. He wanted in starting an action by warrant of replevin to have the cow returned. He said Kasambalis and Calinas had paid $600 which they supposed applied to the purchase of the sow and the cow. Chapko admits that the money was $600, but declares that the money was a payment on other things he has disposed of to the two farmers.

Anyhow, the case will be tried Saturday morning before Judge Hunt.

BLOCK ATTEMPT TO BAR DRY LOBBYISTS FROM LEGISLATURE

Peterson Resolution Referred to Committee Where it Will be Held

MADISON, Wis. — Attempt to disbar representatives of the Wisconsin Anti-saloon league from corridors and parlors of the capitol for the remainder of the session was blocked in the assembly Wednesday when Speaker Young was upheld, 59 to 17, in his decision to refer the Peterson resolution to the committee on rules. This home-dry body is expected to hold the measure without report until near the end of the session.

Assemblyman Peterson said that a new dry bill was about to be offered and that he did not want the legislature to be harassed by anti-saloon league lobbyists.

The conference next September will be held in Wesley Memorial hall, opposite parliament building.

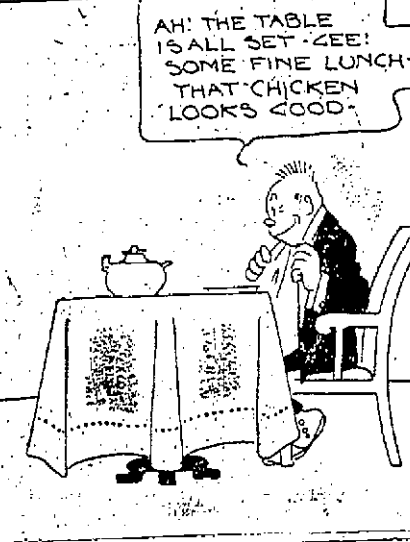

FATHER FINED FOR FAILING TO SEND HIS DAUGHTER TO SCHOOL

Casper Pawlak was fined $5 and costs amounting to $5.32 by County Judge Brindley for failing to send his daughter to school. Pawlak was arrested on complaint of Miss Josephine Hintgen, supervisor of attendance in the public schools. He was charged with having "failed and neglected to have his daughter attend school." The girl, Martha, is 15 years old. Pawlak's defense was that there was housework to be done by Martha, the mother being dead, and that she could not go to school and do the housework. Pawlak promised, however, to see that the girl got some schooling.

HOLY CROSS CHURCH TO HAVE BAZAAR DURING NEXT WEEK

Elaborate Plans Made for Event in School Hall at Thirteenth and Ferry Streets

The long heralded bazaar of Holy Cross congregation will open Sunday, June 5. Rev. Dr. Robert B. Condon will give an address at the opening session of the bazaar, and a supper will follow in the school hall, Thirteenth and Ferry streets.

Elaborate preparations have been made for this bazaar. Women of the congregation worked hard, and the booths have a large assortment of fancy work, aprons and other articles.

The country store will be a big feature of the bazaar. An electric lamp will be given away. Everyone is invited to attend the bazaar.

He Had Hopes

He was a professional conjurer. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a wave of the hand, "this is the magic cabinet. I invite any lady in the audience to enter this cabinet. I will then close the door and when it shall be opened again the lady will have disappeared, leaving no trace!" There was an impressive silence until a little under-sized man in the second row turned to an enormous woman, who sat by him, and breathed eagerly:

"Marie, dear, won't you oblige the gentleman?" —Pearsall's Weekly (London).

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IN WISCONSIN PUT ON BY FARM BUREAU

MADISON, Wis. — An intensive state-wide campaign for members will be undertaken in Wisconsin by the American farm bureau federation as a result of a decision just reached by the directors of the Wisconsin organization to extend in this state.

Secretary C. J. Schroeder of Madison has been placed directly in charge of the drive and during the first few weeks will be assisted by E. B. Heaton from national headquarters at Chicago.

Work will be commenced immediately in Dane county while it is expected that Grant will be organized next. The farmers of Columbia county have held a preliminary meeting and requested organizers.

Making it Easy

There was company at dinner, and the son and heir listened to the conversation. During the meal an animated discussion arose regarding the feeling which, some one maintained, still existed between the North and the South. The minister remarked:

Cuticura Soap Is Ideal for The Complexion

Soap, Ointment, Tablets, etc., everywhere. For sample address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 3, Malden, Mass.

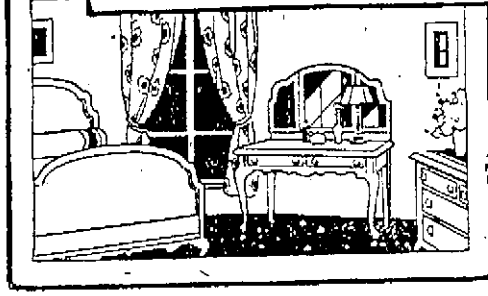

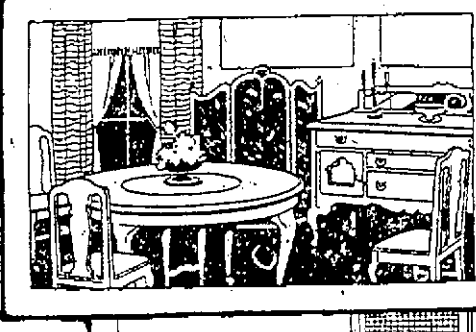

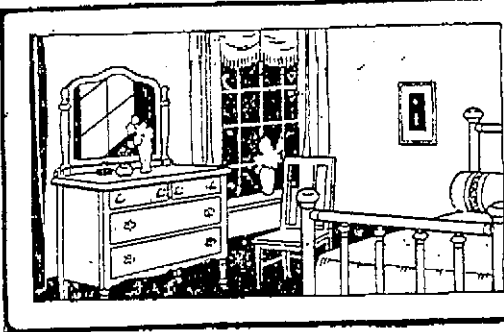

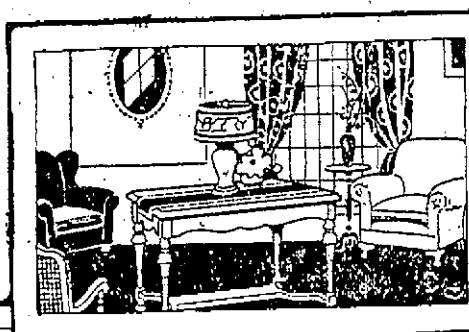

"The time is coming, not far off, when there will be no North, South, East or West, and..." "Won't that be splendid?" interrupted little Willie.

"Why does that interest you?" asked the boy's astonished parent. "Because it will be so much easier to learn geography."

FRENCH CHAMPION MAKES BIG IMPRESSION ON NEW YORK FIGHT FOLLOWERS

NEW YORK.—Watching Georges Carpentier in the few workouts he has been permitted to see at Manhasset forces the impression that this man from France is working for speed to dazzle Jack Dempsey when they clash at Jersey City on July 2. Georges and his foxy manager, Francois Deschamps, have established closely drawn lines to keep all in the public, but with the European champion weighing 172 pounds, just one pound more than the poundage he hopes to carry into the ring, their methods of placing the finishing touches on Georges' condition makes it evident that speed is the thing that is being perfected.

Conservation about the French camp leads one to believe that when Georges starts the big fuss with Dempsey he will throw in the clutch for high speed that will enable him to travel so fast that Dempsey won't be able to catch him.

Sentiment Veers to Georges. Then there is another thing that is producing much argument around New York. Only a short time ago everybody was saying "Carp" was too small to compete successfully against Dempsey. But sentiment in the last few days has veered remarkably and now it seems to be generally believed that the European champion, who really is in wonderful condition, has the speed to offset the advantage possessed by Dempsey in weight and punching power. That's the peculiar twist in public opinion. It's like the wind it blows one way and then the other.

Carpentier got back to work Tuesday after a two days' vacation and made it a strenuous day, but the eyes of the critics were not permitted to focus on the fighter because it was another of the "closed days" at Manhasset. We have it from Gus Wilson that Georges did a lot of work and that at the conclusion he felt in fine fettle.

The Big Day Tuesday. Wednesday, however, promised to be a big day, for Carpentier is scheduled to box four rounds, two of them with Joe Jeunette, the negro. He also may box Sam McVey.

The question of who will referee the big battle has not been officially settled as yet, despite the reports that Harry Little has been named for the job. Little at the present moment seems the man most likely to land the job, but the articles of agreement state that Dempsey and Carpentier shall have something to say about the selection of the referee. They have not come to that part of their business yet, which makes any announcement premature.

It is rumored around Manhasset that Billy Miske, the St. Paul heavyweight, might be added to the Carpentier corps of sparring partners in a couple of weeks. This, however, does not seem likely, as Deschamps has stated that the stand as constructed at present is satisfactory.

Robins, 5; Braves, 4. BOSTON.—A base on balls, followed by infield errors of judgment as well as of commission and Johnson's single in the ninth gave Brooklyn the run by which it defeated Boston, 5 to 4, in the last game of the series on Wednesday. CITY OF ODESSA A MADHOUSE SAYS WOMAN REFUGEE

Philadelphia Woman Permitted by Bolsheviks to Leave as British Subject

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Mrs. Anna Koiser of Philadelphia, who recently arrived here after having been allowed to leave Odessa as a British subject, says that in leaving that city she felt as if she were escaping from a madhouse. Mrs. Koiser is the widow of Eli Koiser, formerly of Philadelphia, who died in Odessa and she is the daughter of Mrs. B. W. Miller of 1332 North Irving avenue, Chicago, to whose home she hopes to return.

"I want to spend the rest of my time until bolshevism falls telling what terrible people they are," she said. "It is a crime in Russia to criticize. If any of us complained of being hungry we were taken before brutal and illiterate officers who are trying to do away with intelligent people and were then thrown into prison to die of typhus and hunger."

"I got along partly because I wasn't afraid. After my husband died I didn't much care what happened to me. I lived by giving lessons in English. Once, when women without working papers, money, widows and daughters of well-to-do families were being gathered together and sent to the farms and gardens to clean up for the soldiers, the guards tried to take me. I said, 'You can shoot me right now, but go I won't.' So they let me pass."

"I had to leave as a British subject because I was always told that the Americans had not been asked for as was the case of the English, Italians or French."

Describing the marriage laws of soviet Russia, Mrs. Koiser said: "Officials ask, 'How long do you wish to be married—one month, two months?' A couple can even be married for a day and get a divorce on the minute by appearing together and asking for it."

Mrs. Koiser said that Henry Potter, an American who used to be employed in the American consulate as a courier or servant and who was left there to take care of the effects of the consulate, was executed in Odessa last June because papers addressed to the American state department and complaining of the soviet system, were found in his possession. "He had a list of papers, files and furniture missing from the American consulate at Potemkin and Odessa," said Mrs. Koiser. "He tried to help me escape."

TESTS

Former Ambassador Walter Hines Page was formerly one of the editors of World's Work and, like all editors, was obliged to refuse a great many stories. A lady once wrote him: "Sir: You sent back last week a story of mine. I know that you did not read the story. For as a test I had pasted together pages 18, 19 and 20, and the story came back with these pages still pasted; and so I know you are a fraud and turn down stories without reading them."

Mrs. Page wrote back: "Madam: At breakfast when I open an egg I don't have to eat the whole egg to discover it is bad. I write Monthly."

All Right for Geraniums
An English temperance lecturer displayed to his audience two geraniums. The first had been watered in the usual way. The other had been dosed with alcohol and its foliage was shriveled and sparse, its stem twisted and its vitality decayed.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," cried the lecturer, "what can you say to a demonstration like that?"

"It's all right," said a shabby man in the front row, "and if I were a geranium I'd stick to water; but, you see, I ain't no geranium."

Explained
"When I was once in danger from a lion," said the old African explorer, "I tried sitting down and staring at him, as I had no weapons."

"How did it work?" asked his companion.

"Perfectly. The lion didn't even offer to touch me."

"Strange! How did you account for it?"

"Well, sometimes I've thought it was because I sat down on the branch of a very tall tree."—New York American.

TEN CHILDREN IN NINE YEARS—FIVE IN THE LAST YEAR!

Ten children in less than nine years—five of them born within the last twelve months—is the record of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Robb, of Hubbard Lake, Mich. Beginning October, 1912, the children came a year or two apart, until May, 1920, when triplets arrived. One is shown in Robb's arms and the other two in high chairs. April, 1921, brought the twins shown in the arms of Mrs. Robb.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
Rivoli—House Peters and Jane Novak in Curwood's "Isobel or the Trail's End." Orpheum—Vaudeville—Gladys Lawrence in Aesthetic dances; Coleman Sisters, Latham, comedians and a Chester comedy, "Beat It." Junior Orpheum—Vaudeville—Vidor in "Poor Relations"; vaudeville—Three Keltos and Howard Nichols. Riviera—Jewell-Golden, "Jubilee Girls" in "At Saratoga"; Clara Kimball Young in "Hush"; comedy, Fox News; Riviera orchestra.

Rivoli Theater
Miss Gladys Lawrence, local girl, will give a series of toe and aesthetic dances at the Rivoli starting today. In addition to Miss Lawrence's dance there will be two acts of Junior Orpheum vaudeville, Coleman Sisters, known as one of the funniest sister acts in the business, will present their offering styled "The Society Girl and Tough powder," and Latham, the eccentric comedian, completes what looks like a splendid comedy vaudeville program. In addition to the above the Rivoli presents one of the most successful film dramas of the day, "The Trail's End." It is adapted from a famous story by James Oliver Curwood and presented by a cast including House Peters and Jane Novak. It is an epic of the north, being an artistic narration of the romance between an honorable member of the northwest mounted police and the faithful wife of the accused murderer he had sought for nearly two years. This rugged romance of the far north has been the recipient of more praise by metropolitan critics than any other production of the season.

MAJESTIC THEATER
Miss Port Keltos, the youngest member of the "Three Keltos" which play at the Majestic for today, Friday and Saturday is known in the profession as vaudeville's merriest miss. She is just bubbling over with merriment and gladness wherever she goes. And she puts a lot of her merriment and gladness over in her act. She does some very clever imitations the best of which are Charlie Chaplin and Priscilla, the jazz dancer. Her closing number on the drums and traps is sure to be a riot. This little miss is just 17 and travels with her father and mother who are the other members of the trio. Sue Keltos is a great foil for Miss Port's comedy. Mr. Keltos conducts in the pit and adds his share to the success of the offering.

MAJESTIC THEATER
The other act in the bill is Howard Nichols, holder of the world's record for hoop juggling. He displays clever expert manipulations in a dexterous manner. Zasu Pitts and Florence Vidor in "Poor Relations" and the Kinograms complete the program at the Majestic for three days.

Is good breeding a matter of culture of the mind and of manners, or is it kindness of heart? Is the attainment of one's ambition and the entire into high society, success? Or is it the contentment found in the appreciation of loyal hearts and simple pleasures, the real success?

These are the questions answered in "Poor Relations," the latest Drentwood production released by Robertson-Cole, presented with a cast including Florence Vidor, Zasu Pitts, Roscoe Karns, William McVail and other screen favorites.

"Poor Relations" is the attraction at the Majestic for today, Friday and Saturday.

TOM MOORE—STRAND

In "Officer 666," Tom Moore's latest picture, the Goldwyn studios have brought to the screen another of those excellent plays which have outlived their period on the legitimate stage, but which are far ahead of present-day standards when supplemented by the realism afforded through moving pictures. "Officer 666" will be seen at the Strand today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. Many plays which drew record crowds in their time, and which have been cast into the discard for new and oftentimes inferior works are being salvaged by the films. Elder theatregoers recognize them with added enjoyment because of old associations, and the young people find in them real humor and pathos as well as speedy action. Tom Moore declares that in "Officer 666," he has one of the biggest roles he has ever done.

of the finest of feminine traits, the world over. It fell to the lot of a little girl to mother a baby brother after her father had been sent to prison for a crime he never committed, and her mother had died of a broken heart; but the little girl never faltered. No mother could have been more faithful to her own offspring; and though beset by perils, she unwaveringly brought her little charge through it all, and in the end was well repaid for her self-sacrifice.

This theme has been utilized in a photoplay, said to be of exceeding power and beauty, produced by William Fox. The story is called "The Mother Heart" and serves Shirley Mason as a starring vehicle. It is on the Casino screen today and Friday.

On the night of their first wedding anniversary Vera seems troubled. Jack importunes her to tell him what it is, and imploringly assures her that no matter what might have happened before their marriage nothing could

PICKETS PREVENT RE-OPENING TODAY OF GREEN BAY MILL

No Attempt to be Made to Operate Until Labor Trouble is Settled

GREEN BAY, Wis.—The John Hoberg Paper Mill, which was scheduled to reopen Thursday morning after a shut-down since May 1, when its employees walked out in protest against a 10 2-3 per cent wage reduction, remained closed when strikers, said to number more than 500, started picketing the mill.

Frank H. Hoberg, president of the company, said that no attempt would be made to operate until the labor troubles had been settled. A sign posted at the mill after the strikers put in their appearance said that due to unsettled labor conditions the mill would remain closed for an indefinite period.

The Green Bay Paper & Fibre company, which also closed on May 1, when 400 employees struck in protest against wage reductions, remained closed Thursday. When this mill would reopen could not be ascertained.

No new developments were reported from the Northern Paper Mill strike zone. The usual number of strike pickets were around the mill this morning. Several deputy sheriffs patrolled the streets leading to the mill.

No attempt to operate the mill will be made until adequate police protection can be guaranteed by the city, according to mill officials.

HAYWARD MAN NAMED DEPUTY U. S. MARSHAL
SUPERIOR, Wis.—Hans P. Fuley of Hayward, former sheriff of Sawyer county, Thursday took office as deputy United States marshal, with headquarters at Hayward. This is the first time a deputy in the western Wisconsin district has been stationed outside of Madison and Superior, according to W. T. Hugh, who was reappointed deputy at Superior and began his twenty-second year in the service.

SERVICE MAN NAMED JUDGE

Jubilant Jubilee
"Some years ago," says an American who used to live in London, "on the day Queen Victoria's death and, about the time the queen's jubilee was to be celebrated, there was overheard this conversation between two old Scotch-women on the street corner:
"Can you tell me, woman, what is it they call a jubilee?"
"Weel, it's this," said the other. "When folk has been married twenty-five years, that's a silver waddin'; and when they have been married fifty years, that's a golden waddin'. But if the man's dead then it's a jubilee."

His Sense of Humor
A minister spoke very strongly against betting. One of the wealthiest members of the congregation was a great gambler, and some one told the preacher about this. After the service he went up to the gambler and said, "I'm afraid I must have offended you today, but—" "Oh, don't mention it," was the reply. "It's a mighty poor sermon that doesn't hit me somewhere."

Sad Disappointment
"So you consider Jack misleading and disappointing. Why, dear?"
"Well, he had me on the tent-hooks last night in expectation that he was going to ask me to go to the theater."
"And didn't he?"
"No, he only asked me to marry him."—Boston Transcript.

"BEER SUITS" WORN BY SENIOR CLASS AT PRINCETON UNIVERSITY

PRINCETON, N. J.—Prohibition has failed to eliminate the "beer suits" of the seniors of Princeton university. The members of the graduating class have donned this distinctive costume which they will wear for the remainder of the college year.

The "beer suit" consists of white overalls, a painter's white coat and engineers black cap with a long visor.

Last year's class wore morning bands on the sleeves of their "beer suits" in memory of John Barleycorn. This year every left sleeve is marked with three black service chevrons, each representing six months of prohibition.
